INTRODUCTION

We at Madani Schools Federation believe that all people have the right to come to school without the fear of being bullied or harrassed. We have a zero tolerance policy on all forms of bullying and harassment. Pupils proven to demonstrate bullying behaviour (including harassment) or actions as defined by the locally adopted anti bullying strategy 'STOP' definition will be managed in accordance with this and the school's anti-bullying policy.

If bullying/harassment does occur, all pupils should be able to tell someone and know that the incident will be dealt with promptly and effectively. Everyone in the school community has a responsibility to report bullying/harassment and bystander behaviour will not be tolerated. Anyone who knows that bullying/harassment is happening is expected to report it to the staff. We will respond to all forms of bullying/harassment that we are aware of. Bullying/harassment is never acceptable. This policy applies to all staff, governors, pupils and visitors to the school.

What is Harassment?

The Equality Act 2010 defines harassment as being 'unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating an individual's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual'. Some examples of behavior that may be considered to be harassment are as in appendix 2.

The Equality Act 2010 bans three types of harassment. These are:

- a) Harassment related to the 'protected characteristics' (as defined by the Equality Act 2010);
- b) Sexual harassment; and
- c) Treating an employee or student less favourably because he or she rejects sexual harassment related to sex or gender reassignment or submits to it (tolerates it or allows it to happen).

What is Bullying?

Bullying is not usually an isolated incident and involves a pattern of behavior (including repeated harassment). It is usually a repeated act carried out with intent. The Leicester City LA definition of bullying is "-the repetitive, intentional harming of one person or group by another person or group, where the relationship involves an imbalance of power. Bullying can be physical, verbal or psychological and can happen face-to-face or online". The agreed school definition incorporates this defining Bullying as "To hurt, scare, or upset someone emotionally, physically, or verbally for any reason, several times on purpose, at school, travelling to school, online or in private". Some examples of behavior that may be considered to be bullying are as in appendix 2.

Bullying can take many forms including:

|------------|---|
| Emotional: | Repeatedly being unfriendly, excluding, teasing (e.g. hiding or throwing equipment) or threatening. |
| Physical: | Pushing, kicking, hitting, punching or any repeated use of violence. |
| Verbal: | Repeated name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours, teasing |

Specific types of bullying can be:

- Related to race, religion or culture, racial taunts, graffiti, gestures related to sexual orientation, name-calling or insults e.g. "gay boy"

- Related to disability/ SEN, making fun, mimicking or picking on someone with SEN or with a mental or physical disability
- Related to appearance or health e.g. “spotty”, “fatty”
- Sexist or sexual bullying, unwanted physical contact or rude comments Cyber bullying, intimidating or offensive e mails and texts
- Material – damage, extortion

Bullying can be carried out by Bystanders and/or by People not taking action or allowing bullying to take place.

On a day-to-day basis, people who hold positions of authority over others are expected to:

- Make sure that the people they are responsible for, including students and visitors, are aware of this policy and the procedures to follow, and to take immediate action if they suspect or identify harassment or bullying, whether or not a formal complaint has been made;
- Work to promote a positive and inclusive work and study environment through setting a good example to others and doing their best to treat everyone with dignity and respect; and
- Complete any specific extra training they need to help them to follow this policy effectively.

All employees and students are expected to:

- Encourage a person who says they have been bullied or harassed to contact a harassment advisor or other suggested point of contact;
- Be sensitive to the feelings of that person; and
- Not take part in, and actively discourage other people from taking

Bullying in the Community and outside of School

Madani Schools Federation expects all of its pupils to behave in an acceptable and mindful manner.

Conduct that threatens the health and safety of pupils, staff or members of the community will not be tolerated. The Head teacher has the power to regulate the behaviour of pupils off site

a) Bullying on School trips and off-site activities

When out of school for trip/activities/clubs members of staff should follow school policies and procedures to safeguard and protect the children, as we would do in school.

b) Bullying of a pupil by other pupils from Madani Schools Federation in the community.

Parents or members of the community should report bullying behaviour to the Head teacher. The Head teacher will consider the evidence available and if the claim is proven will impose sanctions in line with the school's general behaviour policy. If the behaviour is considered serious and an offence may have occurred the head teacher will refer the incident to the local community police officer (or Youth Offending Team)

c) Bullying of a pupil by a pupil from another school

The Head teacher will report the incident to the Head teacher of the school involved and inform the local community officer if the incident is serious.

d) Bullying of a member of staff

All staff have the same rights of protection from bullying and intimidation as any citizen in a public place. They can report the matter to the police and also the head teacher who will apply disciplinary sanctions in line with the school's behaviour policy. This is equally true for both direct and indirect bullying (e.g. cyber bullying out of school via intimidating or abusive texts or emails).

Signs of bullying

Children

A child may indicate by signs or behaviour that he or she is being bullied. These signs and behaviours could indicate other problems especially when new to the school, but bullying should be considered as a possibility and should be investigated. This policy will be publicised to staff, parents and pupils annually, usually alongside the Behaviour policy, to ensure the systems are effective. It will be reviewed thoroughly.

Procedures for parents

If you think that your child is being bullied, reassure them of your support and contact your child's class teacher, Head of House or the Headteacher at the school straightaway by phone, note or in person.

If your child will talk to you about the bullying write the information down and try to include details such as the name of the bully/bullies, any witnesses, and the time and place of each and every incident and pass this on to your child's teacher or the head teacher. We will then be able to gain a clearer picture by talking to everyone involved as soon as possible after the incident.

To alleviate this issue, the school has introduced both an email 'help inbox' account HELP@madani.leicester.sch.uk and a physical 'help box', which is based in reception that anyone can access privately to raise any concerns and report bullying. The school will regularly check, investigate and if applicable respond to all genuine concerns submitted.

Procedures for staff

If it is a child being bullied the incident should be recorded directly onto SIMs AND on a Bullying Report form. If the incident is serious then either a member of SLT should be informed and the HOH/Attitude to Learning manager.

In the case of an adult being bullied then the incident should be reported immediately to the Headteacher who keeps staff records. The headteacher has overall responsibility to ensure incidents of bullying are recorded. Information on recorded incidents will be made available to the school governors on an annual basis.

*External support may be sought for bully and victim at any stage

*Exclusion procedures may be implemented at any point this process as / if appropriate

Bullying / Harassment of Adults

Where bullying affects adults they are advised to speak to someone they trust where possible someone on the leadership team. This must then be reported to the Head teacher. If the accusation is against the Head teacher the Chair of Governors should be informed. They are also advised to contact their Union and Human Resources for help and advice. A representative may attend any meetings with the member of staff who is the alleged victim.

Monitoring and Review

These procedures will be monitored and evaluated to measure their effectiveness at the annual policy review. Staff will be consulted about using the procedures and they will be adapted if necessary to be more effective.

The Head teacher will have overall responsibility for the process of monitoring and recording incidents of bullying but may delegate elements of the procedure to a named member of staff. A report of the effectiveness of the procedures will be sent to the school governors on an annual basis.

Prevention Strategies

We are committed to creating an anti-bullying ethos and positive learning environment where all children and adults feel safe, valued and able to thrive and reach their full potential. We will be proactive in preventing bullying. We recognise that a range of strategies may be necessary to address bullying depending on the circumstances and the age and ability of the children involved.

Such strategies may include:

For children

- Encouraging positive and cooperative behaviour in school to reduce likelihood of bullying occurring
- The development of "Child friendly Anti-Bullying Advice" booklet to reinforce the STOP message used across the school

Appendix 2 – Further information on the definitions of harassment and bullying and associated behaviour

Harassment

The Equality Act 2010 defines harassment as being 'unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating an individual's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual'.

The Equality Act 2010 bans the following three types of harassment.

a) Harassment related to the following 'protected characteristics' (as defined by the Equality Act 2010):

- Age;
- Disability;
- Race;
- Sex;
- Gender reassignment;
- Religion or belief; or
- Sexual orientation.

b) Sexual harassment.

c) Treating an employee or student less favourably because he or she rejects sexual harassment related to sex or gender reassignment or submits to it (tolerates it or allows it to happen).

Behaviour that is acceptable to one person may be unwanted by another. When assessing whether behaviour is harassment, we must look at if the behaviour, whether unintentional or deliberate, is unacceptable to the person on the receiving end and would be judged as harassment by any reasonable person. The word 'unwanted' means the same as 'unwelcome' or 'uninvited'. The person the behavior is directed toward does not have to expressly object to the behaviour before it is considered to be unwanted.

If the person responsible for the behaviour did not intend to create a negative environment, the behaviour will still be harassment if it has the effect of creating such an environment. When deciding whether behaviour has had a negative effect, we will take account of each of the following.

- The view of the person who made the complaint. For example, whether they feel the behaviour has created an intimidating environment. (This part of the test is a subjective question and depends on how the person who made the complaint regards the treatment.)
- The other circumstances of the case.
- Whether it is reasonable for the behaviour to have the stated effect. This is an objective test.

Whether you are an employee or student, you can make a complaint of harassment if you find behaviour offensive and it relates to a protected characteristic. This applies even if the behaviour is not directed at you. You do not need to have the relevant characteristic yourself to make a complaint.

The Equality Act also protects people from harassment because of perception and association. This means it is still harassment even if the person does not have the characteristic but is wrongly considered to have the characteristic or is harassed because of their association with someone who has the characteristic, such as a family member, friend or partner.

Harassment may take many forms and includes behaviour related to a protected characteristic. However, harassment is not always related to any of the above.

Examples of behaviour which is likely to be considered harassment are given below. This is not a full list, and other forms of harassment will be treated with equal seriousness.

- Behaviour of a racist, sexist, homophobic, biphobic, transphobic, ageist or disablist nature.
- Any behaviour or abuse which may cause distress, such as name-calling, ridicule, insults, jokes, graffiti, physical abuse.
- Abuse through email, texts, websites or social media.
- Invading someone's personal space.
- Displaying offensive material. This can be on paper or electronically (for example, on social media).
- Spreading malicious rumours or insulting someone (particularly because of that person's age, race, sex, disability, sexuality, religion or belief, or because they are transgender).
- Preventing other people from progressing by deliberately blocking their educational progress or training and development opportunities or promotion.
- Intentionally isolating or excluding someone.
- Persistent, unwelcome contact, which may include text messages, emails, phone calls, gifts, letters, and calling at a person's home or place of work or study.
- Stalking.
- Offensive sexual behaviour such as suggestive looks, leering and remarks (including on social media and electronic communication devices), offensive flirting, unwanted physical contact, unwanted sexual advances or demands for sex and compromising invitations.
- Offers of favourable treatment in return for sex (or threats of disadvantage if the person refuses).
- Making it public that someone is gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender when they would prefer to keep this information private (known as 'outing').
- Drawing unwelcome attention to, or abusing someone's, religious beliefs.

Bullying

Bullying can be described as repeated threatening, abusive, intimidating, undermining or insulting behaviour that may be an abuse of power, position or knowledge. What one person may consider as bullying behaviour may be viewed as no more than firm management or strong personality by another and so may sometimes be difficult to define. However, inappropriate behaviour that leads to other people becoming stressed, demotivated or frightened is unacceptable.

Examples of behaviour which is likely to be considered bullying are given below. This is not a full list, and other forms of harassment will be treated with equal seriousness.

- Overbearing supervision, shouting, or verbal, written, online or other published abuse.
- Abuse of power or behaviour that causes fear or distress for others.
- Academic bullying, for example, asserting a position of intellectual superiority in an aggressive, abusive or offensive way, including by electronic media (for example, by email or on social media).
- Deliberately undermining someone by not allocating work fairly or constantly criticising them.
- Inconsistent management style where some people are favoured more than others.
- Public ridicule, sarcasm or humiliation.
